

Spotlight on Human Rights - March 2017

National Immigration Law Center (<https://www.nilc.org/>)

Established in 1979, the National Immigration Law Center (NILC) is one of the leading organizations in the U.S. exclusively dedicated to defending and advancing the rights of low-income immigrants. It has taken a leadership role through litigation, advocacy, policy analysis as well as research and messaging strategies on behalf of immigrants. Its work is national in scope and the organization has offices in Los Angeles, Berkeley, California and Washington, DC. In addition to bringing lawsuits on behalf of immigrants, NILC serves as a reliable source of information for immigrants about their rights and options in areas such as health care, workers rights as well as relevant state and federal laws. Many policy makers turn to NILC for information and advice that can aid immigrants. In addition, NILC provides trainings, educational materials and legal counsel to community groups working on behalf of immigrants. Ongoing information can be obtained by signing up for email updates on their website.

States Reject Enforcement Measures and Advance Inclusive Policies

FAQs about Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA)