

Spotlight on Human Rights - August 2016

The Carter Center <https://www.cartercenter.org>

Founded in 1982 by former U.S. President Jimmy Carter and former First Lady Rosalynn Carter, the Atlanta-based Carter Center has helped to improve the quality of life for people in more than 80 countries. The Center, in partnership with Emory University, is committed to advancing human rights and alleviating unnecessary human suffering. Its activities cover two broad areas: “Peace Programs” and “Health Programs”. While all its activities support human rights, the Center's “Peace Programs” give special emphasis to activities such as democracy building, conflict resolution, support of human rights defenders and championing the rights of women and girls https://www.cartercenter.org/peace/human_rights/index.html. The Center is explicitly committed to the goals of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights and promotion of international law. Its work includes an emphasis on training teachers in the developing world to instruct students in their human rights. The Center offers a regular e-newsletter about its many initiatives, links to in-depth information from human rights experts and is connected to many forms of social media.
